

//DATES_AND_DESTINATION

_Collegiate Week 2009 will take place in Glorieta, New Mexico, August 3rd – 8th. The conference center is tucked in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains at the southern most part of the Rocky Mountain chain, 7,425 feet above sea level.

//COST

_The trip will cost $250 per student. This fee covers registration, housing, food, and transportation. To ensure your spot, your money is due ASAP!

//TRANSPORTATION

_We will be taking two church vans and a trailer on our 540 mile trek to and from Glorieta. Brandon Laib and BCM Director Mike Barnett, who are licensed to drive automobiles, will be driving the vans.

//MEALS

_Each student will have a two-meal cafeteria pass each day. Part of your registration money pays for these meals. We will also provide ice chests in each dorm room containing some breakfast foods and snacks.

//SPENDING MONEY

_Each person will be responsible for seven traveling meals. Three meals on the way to Glorieta, one meal in Santa Fe, and three meals on the way back home. $35-$50 of spending money will be sufficient. However, if you would rather eat fast food over cafeteria food, you may bring as much spending money as you want for that.

//WHAT_TO_BRING

_Due to lack of space on the trailer, we ask that you don't go overboard when packing your bags. Try to limit it to one or two suitcases and a carry on.
